DUNIA BARU

BUILT FOR FAMILIES

Dunia Baru was built for families. For the owners, yachting has always been about exploring and creating memories with the people closest to them. Areas where guests gather are purposefully designed to be expansive and relaxed. High sturdy rails and plenty of space allow children to move around on board in complete safety.

THE DUNIA BARU DIFFERENCE

We define ourselves by how we respond to those closest to us. For Dunia Baru, our response has been to give back to the people and the islands we sail intimately through.

This has taken the form of emergency aid relief and carefully planned education projects, as well as volunteering the use of Dunia Baru in the name of scientific research and ocean conservation.

We welcome our guests to approach us should they wish to incorporate and contribute to any of these activities during their charter with us.

While Dunia Baru has done charters in Thailand, Myanmar and Palau, the superyacht spends most of the year sailing Indonesian waters.

Indonesia is situated in the western Pacific Ocean and is central to the Coral Triangle, which is home to 600 species of reef- building corals, more than 2,000 species of reef fish and is considered the world's most biodiverse marine environment.

Indonesia is an outstanding destination year round. The northern and southern portions of the country experience opposite seasons and Dunia Baru follows these to make the best of the weather.

Bespoke itineraries are created for each voyage. Wildlife, culture or diving journeys are crafted specifically to suit the preferences of those onboard.

DUNIA BARU

Komodo

The islands here rise out of the sea in great humpbacked ridges covered with windblown savannah grasses and spiked with the tousled heads of lontar palms. They emerge from waters rich with marine life, and are known to be among the best places on the planet to dive and snorkel.

Hikes within the UNESCO Komodo National Park are just as stunning with its unique topography and pink sand beaches. There are also areas within the park where the mythical Komodo Dragons can be observed in their natural habitat.

Raja Ampat

Often described as the most extraordinary marine habitat on the planet, the 40,000 square kilometers of the Raja Ampat archipelago lie at the point where the Pacific currents collide with the Indian Ocean.

Raja Ampat's dramatic landscape is truly breathtaking: forested karst islands rise from crystal waters and surround bays more magnificent than you could ever imagine.

Alor

Alor is one of Indonesia's most exciting areas when it comes to diversity, from diving with whalesharks, swimming in crystal water, walking on volcanoes and meeting people who live by age-old traditions. The surrounding islands are as rich in culture as they are in marine species: there are said to be 15 different indigenous languages in this little archipelago alone.

The Alor Islands is one of Indonesia's secret spots and is still largely unexplored. This is the place to come if you want to see a part of Indonesia that few people ever reach.

Spice Islands

It was here that Alfred Russel Wallace developed his theory of evolution in 1858, which he expounded to his friend Charles Darwin, who was coming to similar conclusions in the Galapagos Islands.

This archipelago was once the only place in the world where nutmeg grew. Even today the primeval forests and ancient plantations of the Malukus are fragrant with the scent of nutmeg, clove, cinnamon and mace.

DUNIA BARU

Forgotten Islands

The Forgotten Islands stretch for 1000km in a remote south-eastern corner of the Maluku islands, arcing from east of Timor to West Papua. The terrain of these lands ranges from rainforested mountain peaks to rolling savannahs and low-lying mangroves.

The area is known to offer exceptional diving. Crystal-clear waters show off exquisite coral reefs and dramatic walls; colorful reef fish and pelagics such as giant trevallies, hammerhead sharks and bannerfish can be seen.

Papua

Despite being Indonesia's largest marine national park, this area remains so isolated and wild as to be almost undocumented.

Cendrawasih Bay is known by divers for its exquisite coral gardens, dramatic vertical walls, Japanese wrecks and brings opportunity to see the whalesharks that congregate here.

DUNIA BARU

YACHT SPECS

Dunia Baru is the first and only BKI Classed wooden vessel operating in Indonesian waters. This classification by Indonesia's regulatory board recognizes the highest levels of construction and safety; Dunia Baru is the only wooden boat that has been able to meet these stringent requirements, firmly setting Dunia Baru in a class of her own.
